Full Seminar Description:

This workshop entails how to create and use healing rooms/spaces in clinical practice. Healing rooms are designated rooms that are made to heal and promote spiritual growth and wellness, while sparking creative processes and ideas. Healing spaces are cognitive spaces created for effective communication and interaction with ourselves and the world. In this workshop, the healing room is a room that utilizes magnetic therapy, aromatherapy, infrared/steam-sauna and Reiki techniques. Clinical professionals will learn how to make different healing rooms specific to their client needs and how they can help facilitate the patient process of using one. During this workshop, the use of magnetic therapy, aromatherapy, infrared/steam-sauna and Reiki techniques will be explained and demonstrated as clinical interventions and participants will learn how to introduce and use these interventions during clinical encounters.

Learning Objectives:

- Participants will be able to describe the history and components of a healing room;
- Participants will be able to identify and define multiple interventions utilized within a healing room, specifically: magnetic therapy, aromatherapy, infrared/steam-sauna and Reiki techniques;
- Participants will be able to explain the uses of various interventions to clients and demonstrate a basic application of these techniques during clinical encounters.
